Translating Culture: Intercultural Competence in a Multilingual World

RESEARCH EXPERIENCE

Office of Technology & Innovation, New York City

May 2025-Aug. 2025

PiTech Fellow

- Researching lexical, embedding-based, and LLM-based methods of automatic machine translation quality evaluation
- Compiling a test set of documents for evaluating machine translation tools and metrics, covering diverse City-specific use cases
- Communicated with linguists and Language Access Coordinators from other offices such as the Mayor's Office of Immigrant Affairs

EASEL Lab, Wellesley College

Sept. 2021-May 2023

Research Assistant for Professor Carolyn Anderson

- Engineered XiaoshuoNLP, a Python natural language processing (NLP) pipeline for processing Chinese literary text
- Integrated state-of-the-art NLP tools into XiaoshuoNLP to streamline tokenization, part-of-speech tagging, named entity recognition, and coreference resolution for Chinese literary text processing
- Researched syntactic and morphological differences between literary (wen yan wen) and colloquial (baibhua) Chinese across time, from the Ming dynasty to the 21st century
- Created a Python poetry extractor that processes Chinese texts such as Ming-Qing novels and extracts lines of poetry with a precision score of 0.811 on a test set

East Asian Studies, Wellesley College

Sept. 2022-May 2023

Senior honors thesis, advised by Mingwei Song

- Translated “Say I Love You Again” (再说一次我爱你), a chapter from Egoyan Zheng’s science fiction novel Zero Degrees of Separation (零度分离), from Chinese to English
- Explored posthumanism, textuality in translation, and hybrid creator-creation dynamics through close reading

Suzy Newhouse Center, Wellesley College

Sept. 2021-May 2022

Research Assistant for Akiko Mizoguchi

- Researched Japanese and global queer media, with a focus on the genres of Japanese BL and Chinese danmei
- Produced a spreadsheet of Japanese BL manga that have been officially published in English, including information such as creator, translator, publication date, publication medium, and scanlation availability
- Organized and transcribed a 3-hour roundtable between Prof. Mizoguchi and Wellesley College students on Japanese BL and similar cultures around the world, as research for her next book
- Organized a discussion seminar in collaboration with Anime@Wellesley, attended by 14 students

WORK EXPERIENCE

HLAB 2022, Tokyo, Japan

Aug. 2022

Global Side Mentor

- Created a 3-day seminar plan on culture, language, and identity; intercultural differences with regard to communication styles; and culture-sensitive methods of translation
- Collaborated with a Japanese partner to teach my seminar to 2 groups of 6-7 Japanese high school students who are learning English as a second language for 1 hour per group per day
- Mentored a group of 6 students throughout the weeklong residential program both online and in-person on topics such as identity, personal values, diversity, and future goals

HoneyBadger Inc., Vancouver, BC

June 2021 - Aug. 2021

Data Integration Intern

- Built interactive dashboards to visualize sales trends and operational metrics, presenting insights to stakeholders in weekly meetings
- Analyzed 10k+ customer records with Python, identifying 1k+ high-priority outreach targets for the customer service team

- Automated data workflows using Salesforce and Apex to process 100k+ records, reducing manual processing
- Developed triggers to automate data population across custom objects, improving cross-system consistency

Uhubor Education, Vancouver, B.C.

Mar. 2020-Aug. 2021

English Tutor and College Mentor

- Created lesson plans for and taught English as a second language over Zoom to classes of approximately 5 students
- Tutored creative writing to one high school student, helping him brainstorm, draft, and edit chapters from his fantasy novel
- Tutored SAT to students one-on-one and raised one student's SAT Reading and Writing score from 610 to 720 in 2 months
